Luda,

The response on the next BERA is due to the PRPs by 9/13/12 , so I would appreciate your comments sometime before that to put together the final response.

Thanks,

Well that's good news. I won't look at the RTC until I have the revised report.

What will be the deadline for the review of the revised BERA?

And, will the PRPs submit a red-line/strike out copy (electronic is fine) to facilitate a more rapid review?

Luda,

The main thing is the actual revised report because any statements in the response to comments may not reflect what's in the entirety of the actual report - they do help explain what approach was used in the report however; Vickie may respond to the response to comments if she wishes, but that is not required. and the review/comments on the revised report will control the next step, either approval or revision, etc. Please call if you would like to discuss this further.

Thanks,
